Letting Go

*I've come to think that the only, the supreme prayer
we can offer up, during these hours
when the road before us is shrouded in darkness,
is that of our Master on the cross;*

"Into Your hands I commend my spirit."

*To the hands that broke and gave life to the bread,
that blessed and caressed, that were pierced;*

*to the kindly and mighty hands that reach down
to the very marrow of the soul-*

that mould and create-

to the hands through which so great a love is transmitted-

*it is to these that it is good to surrender our soul,
above all when we suffer or are afraid.*

And in so doing

there is a great happiness and great merit.

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, SJ

Pray for Religious Freedom

Reflecting on God's Word

It's said that we never really grow up until both of our parents have died. I suspect that most who have had to walk that path recognize some truth there. So when the Gospel advises us to turn our back on father and mother and family and even on ourselves—maybe it's not about rejecting but about becoming able to live the gospel more maturely, about releasing our grip on the past and growing up. Maybe letting go of childish things is the cost and also the wisdom of the God who waits patiently for us.

One of life's tasks, it seems, is to learn the balancing act between loving without possessiveness and relinquishing without indifference or abandonment. In truth, perhaps we never really learn to balance the two.

We mostly lean in the direction opposite where we are at the time, until we suspect we may have leaned too far and switch directions. It's a wisdom we come to that's worthwhile for parenting but also for marriage and one's profession and growing old and just about everything else that life serves up.

This balancing is also at the heart of faith and discipleship. It's how we come to recognize the hand of God in our lives, by living in such a way that God has the freedom to rearrange the pieces and so bring us to fuller life. It's the wisdom that teaches us how to be a disciple but also the sort of discipleship that brings us to wisdom. It's also the light shining forth in today's reading from the book of Wisdom.

My sister's oldest boy liked nothing better than to sit on his grandfather's knee and have stories read to him.

One day after hearing the story about Noah's ark, and how Noah led the animals to the safety of the ark, the little boy asked, "Grandpa, were you in the ark with Noah?" "Oh, gosh no!" said Grandpa. "Well then how come you didn't drown when the flood came?"
