Change in Mass Intentions Policy: a Clarification

As of August 1st the church office will no longer be requiring mass offerings (customarily $5). Instead, parishioners are asked to write their intentions in the book placed in the main aisle of the Church. Those masses will be offered for the intentions listed. Intentions will no longer be printed in the bulletin or read aloud before mass. This is a big change from our usual practice, and to understand why it was made there are few points to consider:

(1) Canon law: According to the Church's law, each mass offering is made for a single mass. If money is given for the explicit purpose of a mass (even if it is less than the customary amount) then a separate mass must be said for that intention. We cannot, as a general practice, pool together multiple offerings and have one mass to satisfy them all; this is called a "collective intention." While an individual can have mass said for multiple people (ex: a whole family), it does not allow the priest to say only one mass for all the offerings he receives for a given day. Because we receive more offerings than masses we can celebrate in a year, most of the money must be sent off to other priests (usually missionaries overseas) who celebrate masses in proportion to the money they receive.

(2) Publishing intentions: Sometimes there will be 10 names listed for a mass, representing 10 different mass offerings. But the mass that day only satisfies one of those intentions—the other 9 will be satisfied by a mass offered by a priest half-way around the world, and maybe not for months. This is confusing. Listing all the intentions for which we have received offerings gives the impression that we are offering this mass for all these intentions, a "collective intention," which it is not.

(3) The money: If there is no money given explicitly for a single mass, the priest is free to include as many intentions as he wants. This would be the case with the book of intentions, where the priest can read over the names before mass and make them his intention, regardless of any money given. Secondly, the money given as a mass offering goes directly to a priest; it does not benefit the parish at all. For this reason, Fr. Kendal suggests that those who wish to make some offering with their intention can simply add a little to the collection.

It is a good and holy thing to pray for the dead, scripture tells us. And we remember our loved ones most devotedly when we bring them to God in the Eucharist. It is not the money we give that helps them, or having their names printed, but the sacrifice we offer on their behalf.

Rev. Samuel Fontana

The LEFTOVERS

*With twenty loaves of bread Elisha fed the one hundred till they were satisfied, and Scripture tells us there was bread left over.
Jesus did more: with five small barley loaves and two dried fish he fed five thousand men, together with their wives and children, all neatly arranged upon the cushioned grass.
The awed disciples, when the crowd had eaten, gathered up what was left; twelve baskets full.
Who then received these fragments? Hopefully, the least (though not less favored) and the poor.
I think of those who always seem to get the leavings from the banqueting of others, the scraps of bread, of life, that goodness saves.
I pray that they come proudly when invited, make merry at their meal and have their fill,
and rise up thankfully, remembering the fragments, too were miracles of love.*

Jessica Powers

O God, Creator of the universe, who extends your paternal concern over every creature and guides the events of history to the goal of salvation, we acknowledge your fatherly love when you break the resistance of mankind and, in a world torn by strife and discord, you make us ready for reconciliation.

Renew for us the wonders of your mercy:
send forth your Spirit
that He may work in the intimacy of hearts, that enemies may begin to dialogue, that adversaries may shake hands and peoples may encounter one another in harmony.

May all commit themselves to the sincere search for true peace which will extinguish all arguments, for charity which overcomes hatred,
for pardon which disarms revenge.

RCIA

HOW DOES ONE BECOME CATHOLIC?

The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) is the liturgical process concerned with the total spiritual formation of a person that enables an individual to become Catholic.

The gradual development culminates in the celebration of the initiation sacraments of Baptism, Confirmation and Holy Eucharist, usually at the Easter Vigil celebration.

The 2014-2015 RCIA Process will begin in St. Joseph Parish on Wednesday, August 24th at 7:00 PM in the Family Life Center.

If you or someone you know is interested in becoming Catholic or finding out more about the process, please call Randy Bertrand at 356-1909.

of those who have been forcibly displaced.
A hope that is expressed in expectations for the future,
in the desire for friendship,

I admire the courage of those who hope to be able gradually to resume a normal life,
